President Promises Stiffer Control to Prevent More Drug Tragedies in the U. S.

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy promises stiffer government controls to avert drug tragedies and urges every woman in the country to guard against taking thalidomide.

He asks all women to look through their medicine cabinets and turn in any thalidomide they find to health authorities. The drug is blamed for thousands of malformed births in Europe. Kennedy issued the warning, along with an appeal for Congress to establish new safeguards against potentially harmful drugs, at his news conference Wednesday.

From the same platform, Kennedy castigated city officials in Albany, Ga., for not sitting down with Negroes and trying to rescue their constitutional rights. The President was asked about racial strife in the Georgia community, where protests have led to a multitude of arrests and rising tension.

"The United States government is involved in sitting down at Geneva with the Soviet Union," he said. "I can't understand why the government of Albany, City Council of Albany, cannot do the same for American citizens."

As for the talks at Geneva, Kennedy said U.S. negotiator Arthur H. Dean will present new information gathered by the United States, on a simpler, more economical and more effective system for detecting underground nuclear explosions and enforcing a test ban treaty.

Kennedy praised the Food and Drug Administration, especially Dr. Frances Kelsey, for alertness in preventing commercial distribution of the drug in this country. But he said "we ought to be tougher" in regulating distribution of drugs to doctors for experimental use and suggested this could be done without further legislation.

Stronger legislation than a bill approved by the Senate Judiciary committee, however, is essential for the government to yank new drugs off the market "where there is an immediate hazard to public health," Kennedy said.

On other subjects, the President had this to say: Peru—Steps taken by the military junta that took over the Peruvian government have been encouraging but the United States hopes for additional evidence of a return to free, constitutional government. He implied additional assurances would bring about U.S. recognition of the new regime.

Economy—He is "not satisfied" with the performance of the U.S. economy during his administration—growth is insufficient—but he is ready to compare his record with that of the Eisenhower administration.

Tests—The United States will set off no more atmospheric tests in Nevada, he said, and a decision on conducting three additional tests at Johnston Island in the Pacific will be made after the launching pad there is repaired. Communications Satellite—Kennedy said he still backs the administration bill to establish a private corporation to operate the U.S. portion of a global communications satellite system. Senate consideration of the measure had been delayed by a filibuster.

2 Nations to Help in Drug Disasters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two Scandinavian nations in which abortions are legal—Sweden and Norway—might help solve the pregnancy problems of foreign women such as Mrs. Sherri Finkbine.

Medical spokesmen in Stockholm and Oslo cautioned today there is no blanket ruling. But they said decisions in the cases of foreign women fearful that prenatal use of the drug thalidomide has deformed their babies would be up to examining physicians.

Japan would bar abortions, though its 14-year-old eugenics law permits abortion for Japanese citizens and foreign residents.

A Welfare Ministry spokesman in Tokyo, Fumihiko manakata, said an abortion-seeking tourist would be subject to a prison sentence of up to seven years.

Denmark also apparently would be out of bounds.

Dr. Axel Peterson of the Maternal Aid Institution in Copenhagen said a case such as that of Mrs. Finkbine, whose suit for legal approval of an operation was denied by an Arizona court, would be a matter for the institution's special boards of medical, psychiatric and legal experts. And these boards are prevented by law from handling requests of foreigners.

Sweden has allowed legal abortions for seven Swedish women who took thalidomide in the early stages of their pregnancy. X-ray checks had shown two of the babies were deformed, a National Health Board spokesman said, "in the other five cases the abortions were granted for social, family or health reasons."

As to foreign women, Dr. Karl-Inge Ooster of the medical board explained that legal abortion in Sweden may be authorized in cases when a severe illness in the mother could be transferred to the child.

Such cases are decided on what is called eugenic indication, a condition that Stockholm medical experts said may be valid in Mrs. Finkbine's case.

In Oslo, the acting chief of Norway's health directorate, Jon Bjørnsen, said Norwegian law has no provision for authorizing an abortion in advance. As Bjørnsen outlined it, a legal abortion can be performed in Norway only on purely medical indications. The physician in charge of the case must decide whether an operation is necessary.

British Deny Asylum to Convicted Spy

LONDON (AP) — The British government today denied political asylum to Dr. Robert Soblen, the fugitive spy, and ordered him sent back to the United States.

Home Secretary Henry Brooke told the House of Commons that directions were being given for Soblen to be flown to New York, where he faces life imprisonment as a convicted spy for the Soviet Union.

Explaining the denial of Soblen's plea for political asylum, Brooke said Soblen "is not in danger of persecution in his own country for his political opinions or on racial grounds."

Soblen, the home secretary continued, is a fugitive from a life sentence imposed on him by the courts of a country governed by democratic institutions and constitutional guarantees.

A Political Peace Pact in Algeria

ALGIERS (AP) — Algeria's battling politicians achieved a peace pact today with rivals agreeing to accept temporary leadership of a political bureau dominated by left-leaning dissident Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella.

Two rival deputy premiers — Belkacem Krim and Mohammed Boudiaf — agreed to accept the seven-man bureau as the ruling force, in a major concession to avert civil war in this month-old north African nation.

Acceptance of the solution proposed by Ben Bella and his followers was agreed upon at a meeting between Ben Bella's envoy Mohammed Khider, and Krim and Boudiaf. They were joined by Col. Mohand Ou El Hadj, commander of the Kabylie military district opposing Ben Bella.

Khider read a joint statement which said the decision was reached "in consideration of the gravity of the situation and of the serious consequences for the country."

He said the political bureau would remain in power until a meeting of the old Algerian Revolutionary Parliament about a month from now.

Meanwhile, elections for the Algerian assembly would be held "probably Aug. 27," Khider added.

Utilities Head Dies in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Edgar H. Dixon, 57, of Tenafly, N. J., president of Middle South Utilities, Inc., died in a Washington hospital today.

He had suffered a cerebral hemorrhage in Washington Wednesday afternoon.

Dixon was president of Middle South, the parent company of Arkansas Power & Light Co. and three other investor-owned electric companies in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Dixon gained national attention in 1954 as the president of one of the electric power systems which obtained a contract to build a $100 million power plant at West Memphis, Ark.

The Dixon-Yates contract was later cancelled by the government.

Chandler Carried Only One County

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Conservative Winston Chandler carried only one county—Van Buren—in his U. S. Senate race against Sen. J. William Fulbright Tuesday.

Fulbright won nomination to a fourth term with 234,434 votes to 120,119 for Chandler with returns almost complete.

Chandler ran strongest in smaller counties, but he pulled a good vote in one metropolitan area — Fort Smith. The Sebastian County vote was 5,598 for Fulbright and 4,054 for Chandler.

Fulbright swamped his opponent in most northwest Arkansas counties. "Carroll County," however, gave Chandler 1,177 votes to Fulbright's 1,411.

Chandler made his best showing in south and west Arkansas. He had strong support in Columbia, Lafayette, Dallas, Drew, Grant, Hot Spring, Howard, Miller, Monroe, Montgomery, Perry, Pike, Polk and Saline counties.

Chandler also ran strong in three counties along the Arkansas River northwest of Little Rock — Crawford, Franklin and Johnson.

Fulbright scored his heaviest percentages in Crittenden County — 3,830 to 580 — and Newton — 931 to 10.

Chandler, a political unknown before the race, campaigned against Fulbright's record of leadership in international affairs.

Fulbright did not conduct a formal campaign. He leased a headquarters and made several speeches in the last two weeks before the election, but he did not stump, and he made only one television appearance — on election eve.

Fulbright said he ran a "preventative campaign," visiting more than 50 counties in a speaking tour last fall.

His Aid Moves at Prisk Pace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmer Harold Weisberg's own foreign aid program is moving at a brisk waddle again.

Weisberg, of Hyattstown, Md., who last January sent 25 white geese as a gift to St. Lucia Island in the West Indies, is sending off today another quacking and honking shipment of good will.

This one—50 ducklings and 18 goslings from his prime breeding stock—are heading for Liberia at the request of the African nation as a start on increasing its food supply.

Why is Weisberg doing it? "Because I want to help," he said. "President Kennedy told us in his inaugural address that each citizen should ask himself what he could do for his country."

Will Talk With Liz

NEW YORK (AP) — Attorney Louis Nizer is on the high seas today, bound for France and a consultation with actress Elizabeth Taylor about her storm-tossed marriage to singer Eddie Fisher.

As he boarded the liner Independence Wednesday, the lawyer asked comment when newsmen asked if he sought to bring about a reconciliation between the couple. Nizer represents them both.

JFK Willing to Match Statistics

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy isn't happy with the state of the economy. But he is willing to match statistics with the Republicans on this issue in the congressional campaign.

Kennedy contended at Wednesday's news conference his administration's record on production, incomes, business profits — and even stock prices — is better than levels attained under former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

And he discounted a national poll which indicated 72 per cent of those questioned opposed a tax cut that would put the government further in debt. Republicans felt this poll sustained their position.

Kennedy said the results might have been different if those polled had been asked if they favored a tax cut as a means of combatting a recession which would further increase the debt. He reminded that in 1958, under Eisenhower, there was no tax reduction when the deficit hit a peacetime record.

He called encouraging the report that unemployment fell by 450,000 in July to its lowest rate in two years.

The President thus summed up the Democratic position on what Republicans have begun to point to as possibly the outstanding issue in their efforts to win control of the House and increase their Senate holdings.

In response to a question, Kennedy specifically took on Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee and spokesman for party conservatives. Goldwater has predicted any further slide in the economy will damage the Democrats.

Kennedy said he isn't satisfied with present conditions because "there is still a gap between what we are doing and what we could do, based on our manpower and on our plant capacity."

He said his administration is trying to do something about lifting the level of the economy while Republicans like Goldwater oppose the proposals he has made.

He cited as examples a Senate-passed bill giving him standby authority to initiate public works projects if a recession threatens and a youth employment measure on which neither house has acted.

Kennedy said that since he took office the gross national product was up 10 per cent and incomes an equal amount. He said profits had climbed from $40 billion to $50 billion a year and stock prices — despite the market's slump — stand five points higher than when he was inaugurated.

Sister of McNab Woman Dies

Only One Race for Ballot in Aug. 14 Runoff

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas political candidates in all state races but one wooed enough voters to gain office in the first primary Tuesday.

Some of the margins were slim — like that of Gov. Orval E. Faubus who was returned to office with 52 per cent of the total vote — but only in the race for state secretary will there be a runoff.

In that race Kelly Bryant polled 123,956 to 92,509 for Milton Willis. Avon Phillips garnered 65,105 votes and Carroll Durham, 53,165 in unofficial returns from 2,274 of the state's 2,354 precincts.

Faubus, in returns from 2,294 precincts, polled 198,349 to the combined total of 183,879 for his five opponents. These returns put former governor Sid McMath in second place with 78,144 and Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., third with 77,766. Vernon Whitten ran third with 20,406. Kenneth Coffelt followed him with 5,179 and David A. Cox polled 2,094.

In the other state races, returns from 2,274 precincts showed:

Attorney General: Bennett, 185,405; Boyce, 114,239; Thomas, 34,281 and Witt, 18,485; Supreme Court, Pos. 3: Smith, 189,784; Gentry, 159,579; Supreme Court, Pos. 4: Holt, 250,151; Jones, 95,092; L.L. Governor: Gordon, 238,140; Hurley, 111,435; State Auditor: Jones, 256,975; McSwain, 84,385; State Treasurer: Hall, 253,574; Milchem, 97,254; Land Commissioner: Jones, 182,909; Henshaw, 157,405.

Royce Weisenberger polled 24,536 votes to 12,067 for Dick Hule for 6th District chancellor.

G. B. Colvin was returned as 10th District circuit judge with 21,596 votes to 11,849 for Paul Roberts, his lone opponent.

In the 13th District, second division, Melvin Mayfield defeated Jabe Hoggard 17,211 to 8,231 for circuit judge.

In the 18th District, incumbent Circuit Judge P. E. Dobbs was returned to office with 9,125 votes to 4,998 for Marshall Purvis.

Jeff Mobley defeated incumbent George Hartje, 14,241 to 12,285 for 5th District prosecutor.

John Godson polled 12,375 votes to 11,657 for Bill Denman Jr. for prosecutor in the 8th District. In the 11th District, incumbent E. W. Brockman Jr. polled 12,080 to 6,549 for Joe Holmes for prosecutor.

In the race for 13th district prosecutor, Joe Woodward polled 9,720 to 6,177 for John M. Graves, 6,116 for Marshall Shackelford and 2,807 for Ben Lindsey.

In the 15th District prosecutor's race, Jack Yates had 6,349 to 5,817 for Finis Batchelor.

State Sen. Smith Missing on a Lake

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark. (AP) — State Sen. Charles F. (Rip) Smith was reported missing today on Horseshoe Lake 26 miles south of West Memphis, the sheriff's office said.

Officers and volunteers were conducting a search. Smith went fishing Wednesday afternoon in a boat borrowed from West Memphis Municipal Judge Edward Rubin.

Today, Smith's icebox, seat cushion, cricket box and water jug were found floating in the lake. The boat, which had air pockets to make it float, was not found, authorities said.

Smith's car was found parked at a cabin owned by one of his friends.

Smith was alone, as far as authorities knew. A heavy rain on the lake this morning made searching difficult.

Smith, 50, was elected to the Senate in 1956 after four terms in the House. He served as speaker of the House in 1955 and he was chairman of the Legislative Council in 1955-56.

Where there's a will, there's a way.

May Ask a Recount in 2 Counties

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — There were indications today that Sid McMath and Dale Alford would ask for vote recounts in some counties where Gov. Orval E. Faubus piled up huge majorities in his nomination to a fifth term in Tuesday's Democratic primary.
McMath, who ran a distant second, said he thought some returns "were out of line" and his supporters were checking into voting in several counties.
Alford, who ran third, said several supporters, including some from outside Arkansas, had telephoned urging him to ask for a recount.
The total tabulation of votes probably won't be known until Friday, when county Democratic Committees meet to certify the returns. In the latest unofficial returns, with 70 precincts uncounted, Faubus had 198,349 votes to 78,144 for McMath, 77,765 for Alford, 20,496 for Vernon Whitten, 5,179 for Kenneth Coffelt and 2,094 for David Cox.
Faubus maintained 52 per cent of the vote, enough to avoid a runoff.
McMath said there was a good possibility he would ask for a recount. He said two of the counties being checked were Mississippi and Crittenden, in east Arkansas.
In Mississippi County, Faubus got 7,590 votes, McMath 1,252 and Alford 1,020. Whitten got 73, Coffelt 58 and Cox 21.
In Crittenden County, Faubus got 3,057, McMath 310, Alford 204, Whitten 62, Coffelt 14 and Cox 7.
Neither McMath nor Alford conceded the election, but Whitten, Coffelt and Cox did.

Pilot Swerves Plant and Averts Disaster

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Two jet airliners with 104 persons aboard were on a collision course over eastern Kansas Tuesday, but one pilot swerved in time to avoid a disaster.
The Federal Aviation Agency said the planes, heading opposite directions, had been assigned the same 33,000-foot altitude. It said two traffic control employees had been suspended.
There were 96 passengers on American Airlines Flight 73 from St. Louis to Los Angeles and 72 passengers aboard Trans World Airlines Flight 78 from Los Angeles to St. Louis. The planes also carried crew of eight each.
TWA pilot C.E. Davis of Los Angeles said he made a 10-degree turn to the right when he saw the American plane. He estimated they were 1,000 feet or more apart laterally when they passed. The American pilot, unidentified, estimated the distance of 250 to 300 feet.
Passengers were unaware of the near miss.

ADAPTABLE AUDITORIUM—Burgeoning student enrollments have caused school architects to come up with ingenious ideas to get the most out of the available space. One new design puts the usually idle school auditorium to use. Cutaway drawing above shows a new divisible auditorium at Boulder City (Nevada) High School. Movable walls have divided the building into three independent teaching areas. The walls are actually king-sized folding doors, motorized and soundproof. The design was supported by a grant from the Education Facilities Laboratories. The movable walls added less than 10 per cent to the hall's $367,508 cost, much less than would be needed for new classrooms.

Poll Watchers Denied Twice

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation said Wednesday it sent a report to Washington that poll watchers were denied access to polling places in Conway and Mississippi counties during Tuesday's Democratic primary election.
But U.S. Attorney Robert D. Smith said he did not believe this action was a violation of federal election laws.
Smith said federal election laws deal primarily with actions designed to prevent a person from casting a vote or obtaining an honest count of his vote.
Prior to the election Chancellor Wiley Bean had issued a declaratory judgment that no persons except election officials and those presenting themselves to vote could be allowed within 50 feet of polling places.

N. York High Court Judge Sentenced

NEW YORK (AP) — A federal judge sentenced State Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Keogh today to two years in prison on a charge of obstructing justice by trying to fix a federal court bankruptcy case.
His two co-defendants, Elliott Kahaner, 36, a former U.S. assistant attorney in Brooklyn, and Antonio "Tony Ducks" Corallo, 47, an underworld figure, also were sentenced to two years.
U.S. District Court Judge Edward Weinfeld ordered the sentences after the 56-year-old Keogh swore his innocence "in the presence of the ever-living God."
Weinfeld earlier had rejected defense motions to dismiss the case against the three defendants.
The defendants were continued in their present status pending appeals — Keogh and Kahaner released in their own recognizance and Corallo in $25,000 bail.
They were convicted June 16. The prosecution said Keogh accepted a $22,500 bribe and Kahaner one of $12,500 for their efforts in an unsuccessful attempt to fix the bankruptcy case.
Corallo's role was portrayed as one of raising the money on behalf of the bankruptcy defendants.

New Regulations Soon for Drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Welfare Anthony J. Celebrezze said today new regulations will be issued soon covering distribution of new drugs to doctors for investigational purposes.
"It seems clear," he said in a statement, "that some tightening up needs to be done, although care must be taken not to interfere with the professional work of competent physicians."
"It is equally clear, however, that full protection of consumers against unsafe or worthless drugs will require action by Congress. I am hopeful that Congress will enact the President's recommendations to strengthen the Food and Drug Act at this session."
The Food and Drug Administration is a division of Celebrezze's department.

Little Relief in Sight for Drought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau said today little relief is in sight for the drought-stricken Northeast during the next 30 days.
"Subnormal rains are anticipated in the Gulf and Pacific Coast states and also in those northeastern states currently affected by drought," the bureau said in its 30-day outlook.
It added that continued below normal temperatures are expected over the northern half of the nation east of the Continental Divide but above normal in the Gulf states, the Southeast and the Pacific Northwest.
Near normal temperatures are expected to prevail in unspecified areas "except for below normal over the Far Southwest."
Precipitation is expected to exceed normal from the Southern Plateau states through the Central Plains and the Ohio Valley, the bureau said.

Riots Quelled in New York Area

NEW YORK (AP) — Police fired about 50 warning shots in the air to quell the worst of three separate outbreaks of disorder Wednesday night on a crowded West Side block.
Nearly 100 policemen — commanded by Commissioner Michael J. Murphy — were mobilized from a number of precincts to break up the brawling and halt the harrangues of bottles, beer cans and rocks hurled from roofs.
When the helmet-wearing police became the targets of the harrangues of bottles, beer cans and heads of those pelting them.
The battle scene was the block on West 94th Street between Central Park West and Columbus Avenue, populated mainly by Negroes and Puerto Ricans.
No one was reported injured. One Negro was arrested for allegedly swinging his fist at a policeman.

NEW DELHI (AP) — Thick clouds and thunderstorms hampered an air search today for a Nepali airliner missing with 10 persons aboard, including two U.S. government officials.
The DC-3 Dakota presumably crashed Wednesday in jungles or farmland at the foot of the Himalayas while on a flight from Kathmandu to New Delhi. It was last heard from over the India-Nepal border.
Passengers included Sidney B. Jacques and Oscar Curtis Holder, both 51 and both from Washington, D.C. The U.S. Embassy said they were touring inspectors of the Agency for International Development.

European Doctors Warn About Drug

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—U.S. Army doctors in Europe issued a warning to soldiers' wives against the use of thalidomide after at least three deformed infants were born, the Army disclosed here today.

The drug itself has not been utilized in U.S. Army medical facilities in Europe, the Army said, and has never been in Army pharmacies. But, an Army spokesman said, the drug had been prescribed to some Army wives in Europe by nonmilitary physicians.

"Some of these women had their babies in Army hospitals," a spokesman said, "and in three such cases, the babies exhibited deformities similar to those reputedly caused by the drug."

As a consequence, the spokesman said, Army doctors have advised women who had been attending by nonmilitary physicians to check medications they may have received in the past and to discard any containing thalidomide.

In Germany, thalidomide originally was sold without prescription. In the summer of 1961, it was put on the prescription list.

The drug, sold here under the trade name of Contergan, was banned throughout Germany last Nov. 26 when doctors first found indications that deformities were linked with the use of the drug during early pregnancy.

Robins and daughter, Judy, visited in Helena with Mrs. John Robins, Mrs. John Barrow, Dr. John Barrow Jr. and family.

Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Goddard have returned home from a vacation in northern Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Singleton of McNab went to the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Annie Watts of Salem, Ill., last week. Before returning home, they visited his son, Louis and family in Kansas City.

Remember Mama

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: My girl is of age and so am I, yet her mother makes me feel like a fool by telling us what we can and cannot do. You would think I was in swaddling clothes to hear her talk. Believe me, I'd tell her off if it weren't for her daughter. The girl has plenty of potentiality; looks, brains and a heart, but she's been dominated so long by this mother of hers that she's as weak-willed as a trained baby seal.

Last evening I was about ready to call it quits but on second thought decided to write you first. It isn't as if I were a nobody. Don't think me conceited when I say this, but I am handsome, well-groomed and fairly intelligent. Though only 25, I'm junior partner in a small but growing electronics company, director of the youth work at our church and president of the local athletic club. My girl is 18. We've been dating more than a year.

While a senior at high, she had a curfew of 10 p.m. on school days and 12 p.m. on weekends. We never once violated these rules. Last June we double dated to go to the seashore and returned early—7:30 in the evening. Well, we'd no more than put foot on the front steps when her mother started yelling. It seems my girl had promised to come home by six. I was ashamed for her and for myself at being subjected to the tongue lashing which followed. She was kept home dateless for two whole weeks. The Fourth of July there was a dinner dance at the country club. I arranged for my partner and his wife to drive us afterwards to watch the fireworks. By the time I called for my girl, that fiend of a mother had a change of mind. The drive to the Point was ruled out.

Last night took the cake. My partner and his wife invited us to a clam bake. The dragon had to know every detail before she would give consent to her daughter going. I asked my sister, who was also invited, to pick her up while I went from the office with my partner. The two girls no sooner arrived than a Mama phoned. I answered. She thought it mighty suspicious that my sister, not me, had called for her daughter. What were we up to? I blew my top. My girl cried. Her mother ordered her back home pronto. She went! I fear for our future if we should marry. The mother is a dead ringer for her daughter 20 years from now. At one time I imagine she was even prettier. What do you say?—Dejected

Dear Helen: Talk about ingratitude! Two friends of ours, past middle life, took a 13-year-old orphan boy into their home. His grandmother, aunts, uncles, brothers and sisters had hearts of stone where he was concerned. These friends reared him to manhood. He married and now his wife won't permit him to see them though his indifferent relatives are welcome. This breaks his foster parents' hearts. What would you do in their place?—One Who encouragement and love. Don't forsake her

Dear Helen: I am a 14-year-old girl who's worried sick about my sister. The problem is her husband hasn't grown up. Our parents opposed her marriage. She said, "Let me lead my own life." Things went along fine till her baby came, then her husband took to drink and got mixed up with a wild bunch, some of them wanton girls. My sister takes him back every time, which burns us all up. We all want her to come home but she still sticks it out with this irresponsible no-good. How can I help her?—Little Sister

Dear Little: Your sister is right. She's got to lead her own life. She must work out her own problem otherwise she'll never learn. However, your parents could tell her, provided they do it lovingly, that she'll have to take a stand with her husband if she hopes to make anything of their marriage. If anybody talks to her, it should be your parents, not you. They should warn her that she'll have to stand firm. She must tell her husband, "This is it. Reform or good-bye." and mean it. Shilly shallers complicate the lives of all concerned, including their own.

Dear Helen: A friend of ours recently said rather sadly, that he had learned through bitter experience not to expect gratitude from those whom he had helped. Granted, but this doesn't mean that

Regional Meets on Redevelopment

Washington (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman has called five regional conferences on the Kennedy administration's rural areas redevelopment program. This seeks to aid low-income areas to create opportunities of the farm, such as attracting new industries, developing recreational facilities and training of farm people for other skills. It seeks to keep rural people from leaving for the cities.

Farmers, businessmen, educators, civic and government leaders will be invited to attend the conferences. The conference scheduled for the northeast and south is: New Orleans, Oct. 15-16, for North Carolina, Tennessee, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina and Florida. Philadelphia, Oct. 22-23, for the six New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

JFK Has Built-in Barometer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has a built-in foul-weather barometer—his back. The subject came up Wednesday, amidst laughter, at his news conference. A reporter, noting that it had been some time since there had been a report on the President's health, asked: "How is your aching back?" Said Kennedy with a broad grin: "Well, it depends on the weather, political and otherwise. It's very good today."

Deadlock in Georgia Race Issue

By DON MCKEE

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Racial issues remained deadlocked today despite President John F. Kennedy's comment that the situation in this southwest Georgia city is "wholly unsatisfactory."

As the White House stepped openly into the matter, a federal court hearing continues on whether mass demonstrations by Negroes should be banned.

And Negroes kept up their campaign of going to jail in protest of segregation.

Mayor Asa D. Kelley Jr. rejected the President's position that city officials should sit down and talk with Negro leaders. And Kelley got support from Gov. Ernest Vandiver.

"We will never talk to outside agitators about local problems," the mayor said.

Sole spokesman for the seven-member City Commission, Kelley, blamed agitators for creating turmoil in Albany, where Negroes comprise about 40 per cent of the 58,000 population.

Asked if that referred to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, currently in jail as a result of integrationist activities, the mayor replied:

"I mean exactly that."

Kennedy promised in Washington at his news conference to "do everything in our power to protect the constitutional rights of all the people."

"I think it is inexplicable that the City Commission can't sit down and negotiate," he said. "We had to sit down and negotiate at Geneva. I don't see why the City Commission can't."

The mayor didn't rule out the possibility of talking with Albany Negroes but he stated as a condition to negotiations the departure of King and his corps of integration strategists.

King agreed with the President on negotiations. The integration leader, after a week behind bars, said Kelley was offering "an excuse and another evasive scheme to avoid negotiating."

The impasse between city officials and integration leaders dates to last November, shortly before the mass demonstrations erupted. More than 1,200 arrests have been made since mid-December.

Each side in the controversy has accused the other of breaking faith. Negro leaders in recent months have talked once with city fathers at a regular commission meeting. But there has been no real agreement on the disposition of city court cases pending against demonstrators, or on desegregation of public facilities.

Five more demonstrators went to jail Wednesday after attempting lunch counter and restaurant sit-ins.

More than 300 have been jailed in the past three weeks.

At the federal court hearing, the city is attempting to prove that continued demonstrations would touch off violence and possible bloodshed. At issue is whether such activities should be prohibited with an injunction.

Rail Official Blames Crew for Accident

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—An official of the Pennsylvania Railroad blames the derailment of a baseball special which killed 19 persons on the failure of maintenance crews to install enough rail anchors while rehabilitating tracks near Steelton, Pa.

James P. Newell, vice president of operations, said Wednesday the lack of anchors permitted the rails to get out of alignment. A rail anchor is a steel device which clamps on the base of the rail.

Newell said "appropriate disciplinary action" will be taken.

More than 100 were injured when the last three of the nine cars jumped the tracks and tumbled into the Susquehanna River in Steelton late Saturday. The train was carrying baseball fans to a game in Philadelphia between the Phillies and Pittsburgh.

Urges U.S. to Drop Latin Military Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, urged today an end of all U.S. military aid to Latin America. He said it had been a tragic mistake and was "unsuitable and fruitless."

He cited Peru as an example of countries where he declared none of the goals of such aid had been attained, but emphasized Peru is not alone in Latin America.

Gruening, a long-time student of Latin American affairs, expressed his viewpoints in a Senate speech.

The Alaska Democrat said one of the leaders of the Peruvian military junta was trained two years in the United States and received last year a decoration from Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara with a citation praising, among other things, his "consistent support of democratic principles."

Three of the four military commanders "who staged the Peruvian coup had tours of duty in the United States," a U.S. tank was used to force an entry in the presidential palace to oust President Manuel Prado, and four of the 13 military men in the cabinet "were even given the Legion of Merit by the United States," Gruening said.

The attempt on the president's life was made when he stopped at a village 500 miles north from Accra on his way home from a visit to Upper Volta, Ghana's northern neighbor.

Nkrumah had just gotten out of his car when the bomb went off.

STATISTIC

By ED LACY

"When Henry Brown was admitted as a heart case and given one of our most expensive rooms. I was impressed. Brown hardly looked a wealthy man, merely a nondescript little guy in his 50's with a timid expression. But his visitors, who I learned were football players, really impressed me. Six men came to see him regularly. Two of the men were big manufacturers; then there was Mr. Page—a society bigwig and wealthy from way back—plus the owner of a local supermarket, and two men from out of town each of whom drove a swank car."

I studied Henry Brown's medical record. He had a beauty. He'd spent six months in a mental institution, had undergone extensive cancer check-ups here and abroad, nearly a year in a Swiss TB sanitarium.

In the last 15 years he'd spent more time inside hospitals than outside.

When Mr. Page came in this afternoon, I told him, "You'll have to wait a few minutes, sir. Mr. Brown is taking another cardiogram."

"Thanks for telling me. I hope it turns out normal. Poor Hank's had so much bad luck."

"I happened to see his medical record, he certainly has had his share of illness."

Mr. Page nodded his brushed silver - gray hair. "Yes indeed. I've known Hank for a long time. Met him during the war. The seven of us were a crack reconnaissance team, went through months and months of combat. Happily we all came through without a wound. The irony of the matter is that Hank has a mind for figures—statistics. Before starting on a patrol into enemy territory he might say, 'The odds are 5 to 1, one of us won't return. Which one will it be?' Hank has a vast knowledge of such... eh... facts. He'd tell us, 'One out of every seven adults in the USA will have a breakdown some time before he's 40 years old—which of us will be tagged?' Or, 'One out of every 10 Americans gets cancer, will it be one of us?' Mr. Page straightened his neat tie. "Of course, I don't remember the exact figures, but you see what I mean by Hank's hard luck?"

"I think so, Mr. Brown was the unlucky one every time."

"Exactly, and in a sense, his hard luck was our good fortune. Not one of the rest of us has ever suffered a major sickness. About two years after we were discharged from the army, Hank's store failed and he had a nervous breakdown. He wrote to me that he'd been the lucky one of the seven of us. Of course, when he was released, we got him a job in a factory. But within a year TB struck Hank, then he seemed to have other sicknesses. Now, it's heart trouble."

"Nice of you gentlemen to look after Mr. Brown."

Page shrugged. "We all feel kind of guilty... as if it's our fault. Oh, not really, but... this statistic bit makes Hank a kind of insurance for the rest of us. In other words, he's always the one who's hit, 'wins' the odds-on gamble. We remain healthy and he's in and out of one rest home after the other."

As Mr. Page left, Dr. Johns, a young heart specialist, walked out of the elevator. I asked, "Doc, how did Mr. Brown's cardiogram come out?"

"Normal. You know, outside of a stay in a mental hospital where he underwent shock treatment, this Brown has always been suspected of having various illnesses but never reached an operative or actual treatment stage. I'm al-

Summer Dip in Sales Announced

WASHINGTON, (AP) — New figures showing a summer slump in business sales and construction activity were announced today by the Commerce Department.

One report revealed a billion-dollar decline in sales of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers between May and June. Sales in June totaled $67.4 billion.

A second report gave a preliminary estimate that the annual rate of construction activity declined from $62.5 billion in June to $61.7 billion in July. There was a slight increase in private building but this was more than offset by a drop in public projects.

The June sales slump embraced all categories of business with retail trade off nearly 2 per cent. After adjustment for normal seasonal fluctuations, deliveries by retailers were down $300 million from May to $20.2 billion.

Sales of manufacturers declined by $500 to $34.1 billion and deliveries by wholesalers were down $200 million to $13.2 billion. Manufacturing and trade inventories increased by $300 million between May and June. The total at the end of June was $97.7 billion. Manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers recorded increases of $100 million each.

The construction report showed that the annual rate of private building increased by $66 million in July to $44.7 billion. However, the rate of public construction declined by $88.5 million to $10.9 billion. The figures are rounded and the over-all July rate was figured at $61.7 billion.

No-Hit, No-Run Game Hurlled by Monboquette

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer

The most members of the pitching fraternity, Boston's Billy Monboquette has his good days and bad. When he's good, he's very, very good, and when he's bad, he's horrid.

Wednesday night the hefty right-hander was very, very good. In fact, he was almost perfect. The 27-year-old native of Medford, Mass., hurled the season's fourth no-hit, no-run game, a 1-0 triumph over Chicago in which only one White Sox reached base.

"The finest game I have ever seen in the majors," Red Sox manager Mike Higgins said. "Strangely, Monboquette had been having his troubles of late. A mainstay of the Boston staff for two seasons, he had been knocked out in his last four starts.

But he was the master of the situation Wednesday night. Only a second inning walk to Al Smith spoiled a perfect game. There were only two difficult chances, Charley Maxwell's long fly to right in the second and a blooper over second by Sherm Lollar in the fifth. Monbo retired the last 22 men in order.

Elsewhere in the American League, the first-place New York Yankees retained their six game margin over Los Angeles by taking a pair from Washington, 6-4 and 5-2 in 11 innings. Los Angeles also won two, beating Cleveland 2-1 and 8-4 in 10 innings. Detroit took two from Kansas City, 6-5 and 9-1. Minnesota outlasted Baltimore 3-1 in 11 innings.

In the National League, both the leading Dodgers and second-place San Francisco lost, the Dodgers falling to Pittsburgh 9-1 and the Giants losing to Chicago 3-2 in 10 innings. Cincinnati beat St. Louis 5-1. Milwaukee blanked St. Louis 3-0 and Philadelphia outlasted New York 11-9.

"Sure, it was a thrill. Sure, it was the best game I ever pitched," said Monboquette, who once struck out 17 men in a night game at Washington. "Nellie Fox was the man I was afraid of," he said. "He never strikes out."

Fox came in to hit for Early Wynn, the White Sox' ancient pitching star seeking his 298th career victory, with one out in the ninth. Monbo got him on a tricky grounder to third, then struck out Luis Aparicio to end the game, pushing his record to 9-10 for the season. He struck out seven.

All-Stars Set for Game With Pros

CHICAGO (AP) — Taut and eager, the College All-Stars are ready for their football game, against the Green Bay Packers Friday night at Soldier Field.

Says Coach Otto Graham of the collegians: "Physically the Packers won't push us around. I just hope we won't make any mental errors."

"The Packers, National Football League Champions, are a formidable club—one of the best of all time," in Graham's view. But the 1962 edition of the All-Stars, even with Ernie Davis of Syracuse sidelined, have much to recommend them.

They have John Hadl of Kansas, a talented quarterback; Ron Bull of Baylor, who is expected to step into the spot vacated by Davis; Roman Gabriel of North Carolina State, a pin point passer; Jimmy Saxton of Texas, an explosive runner, and Bob Ferguson of Ohio State, a powerful line smasher.

"And they're the hardest working squad I've seen in my five years of coaching in this game," says Graham.

The loss of Davis was a severe blow to the team. The loss of Davis was a severe blow to the team.

by Earl Wilson, Monboquette's teammate, Bo Belinsky of the Los Angeles Angels and Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Lu Clinton drove in the only run in the game with a single in the eighth, following two-out singles by Jim Pagliaroni and Pete Runnels.

The Yankees pushed in three runs in the 11th inning of the nightcap at Washington to provide Whitey Ford with his 11th victory. Dale Long's double, a single by Elston Howard and John Blanchard's homer did the job.

The five-hit pitching of Dean Chance (8-6) and a four-run 10th inning brought the Angels their two victories over Cleveland.

The 10th inning tie-breaker in the nightcap came on a disputed balk called on Cleveland's Ruben Gomez with runners on second and third. Singles by Tom Burgess, Billy Moran and Felix Torres got the others.

Detroit, which got the benefit of 20 bases on balls in its two games with Kansas City, had to rally for three runs after two were out in the ninth to win the opener.

Minnesota pitcher Jim Kaat (11-9) tripped to the right center wall, driving in the tie-breaking run in the 11th as the Twins beat Baltimore and Robin Roberts.

Gonzales to Get Credit If U. S. Wins

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

MEXICO CITY (AP) — America's ace in the hole in the crucial Davis Cup tennis match against Mexico this weekend is the Mexican-descended team coach, pro champ Pancho Gonzales.

"If we pull this one out of the fire, enough credit can't be given to Pancho," says the U.S. captain, Bob Kelleher today.

"There are three specific areas in which Gonzales' value to us is inestimable. He is a great tactician. He commands respect from every man on the squad—they'd stand on their heads if he told them to do so. He gives them practice experience on the court such as you can't get anywhere in the world."

As a pro, Gonzales can't be on the sidelines but he'll be in the wings when the U.S. cuppers square off against the Mexicans in the best-of-five match series Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Chapultepec Sports Center.

Gonzales' coaching was credited with Alex Olmedo's and the United States' upset victory over heavily favored Australia in the Davis Cup challenge round at Brisbane in 1958. He was then a coach without portfolio, assisting Captain Perry Jones.

Now Gonzales is the official team coach, a job he took at great personal sacrifice and much to the chagrin of the Mexicans. The Mexicans made a bid for Pancho's services but the tall, dark Los Angeles pro, who lived in Mexico as a youngster, felt his first obligation was to Uncle Sam.

Gonzales has worked tirelessly whipping the American team into shape for the Mexican test. The Mexicans, with the gifted Rafael Osuna in the lineup, are favored to knock the Yanks out of the American Zone title for the first time in history.

The Americans are expected to use Chuck McKinley, St. Ann, Mo., and Jon Douglas, the former Stanford quarterback from Santa Monica, Calif., in singles, with McKinley and Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., playing the doubles.

The Packers are clear cut favorites. However Graham, in his first job of coaching, pulled a big upset when his collegians beat the Detroit Lions 35-19. Graham figures his present team has the potential.

All indications point to an open game. Graham won't name his starting quarterback yet, but he said "if we use the spread much it has to be Haul."

'Bounce-Back' Reds Face Long Climb

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Just how far is up for Cincinnati's rambunctious Reds?

That was the big question today in the National League, where the bounce-back Reds are using Frank Robinson's big bat as a battering ram in an attempt to gain admittance to the throne room for the second consecutive year.

The Reds have reeled off 13 victories in 14 games—the latest a 5-1 conquest of the St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

The triumph moved the three-place Reds to within 7 1/2 games of league-leading Los Angeles and within 2 1/2 of second-place San Francisco. The Dodgers were belted by Pittsburgh 9-1 while the Giants bowed to the Chicago Cubs 3-2 in 10 innings.

Elsewhere in the NL, Milwaukee shut out Houston 3-0 behind Bob Shaw and Philadelphia outslugged the New York Mets 11-9.

In the American League, Boston's Bill Monboquette pitched the fourth no-hitter of the season and joined teammate Earl Wilson as a member of the exclusive club when he allowed the Chicago White Sox only one walk in a 1-0 victory.

In other AL action, the league-leading New York Yankees swept a doubleheader from Washington 6-4 and 5-2 in 11 innings, the Los Angeles Angels whipped Cleveland twice 2-1 and 8-4 in 10 innings, Detroit swept Kansas City 6-5 and 9-1 and Minnesota defeated Baltimore 3-1 in 11 innings.

The Cardinals got to Jim O'Toole (11-11) for their lone run in the fourth inning on Julian Javier's triple and a single by Stan Musial, but Robinson's homer following a Jerry Lynch single put the Reds ahead to stay. Larry Jackson (9-9) was the loser.

The Pirates backed Bob Friend (2-10) with a 14-hit attack and made the most of three Dodger errors to snap out of a losing skid in which they had lost eight of nine games. Six runs in the third tagged Stan Williams (9-7) with the loss.

George Altman's two-run homer in the 10th inning settled a pitchers' duel between Bob Buhl (8-8) of the Cubs and Billy O'Dell (12-10) of the Giants. Buhl needed Don Cardwell's relief help in the bottom of the 10th.

Shaw (12-8) scattered eight hits in posting his third shutout of the year while the Braves collected

Braves Are Not Considering Move

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves, disturbed by persistent rumors in various sections of the country, want it known they're not considering a move back to Boston—or anywhere else.

In an unusual move, Milwaukee club president and General Manager John McHale issued a statement Wednesday denying reports that the Braves are entertaining thoughts of another transfer.

McHale said the reports "are totally without face and are unfair to the fans of Wisconsin." He added, "The Braves are not presently considering a move to Boston nor do they have any intention of considering such a move in the future."

The Braves moved from Boston to Milwaukee in the spring of 1953. In nine years the Braves attracted some 15 million fans to Milwaukee County Stadium. However, this season the Braves have drawn only 446,210 for 44 home games—239,832 fewer than in the same number of appearances last season.

Babies Have Fine Sense of Humor

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—Babies have an incredible sense of humor. They are courageous when they laugh. They delight in symbols—of authority—that make adults feel very unfunny indeed.

For instance, take our baby (just you try!)

His funny bone is tickled by the following items, in order of their humorous importance:

"No parking" signs, framed pictures hanging crooked, pigeons, his doctor, and human beings saying "boo."

The things he finds particularly unfunny, in order of their bluntness, are:

TV cartoons, funny-looking (to adults) stuffed animals, framed pictures hanging straight, and sensible human beings.

Of all his idiosyncrasies, our almost-10-month-old's uproarious and overwhelming delight in "no parking" signs seems the oddest.

As one comes in view of his stroller, he leans forward, tense with the effort to suppress his excitement. He holds himself together until he is almost upon the sign, and then he explodes with enchanted laughter as he passes it, turning to grin as it disappears from view behind him.

Adults, who feel everything from simple distrust to outright disgust for "no parking" signs, might think him something of a kook. But I like to imagine he knows that this is the sign of authority—and you may as well laugh at it while you can get by with it.

A framed picture, askew, is as delightful to a baby as it is repugnant to a housewife. I couldn't say who is right—but I know whose opinion, I'm rooting for.

A doctor, even a doctor with a needle in his hand, is a good and happy person to a baby. It takes years to mistrust or dread or worry about doctors.

And when people say "boo!" with grotesque expressions on their faces, babies jump out of their little pink skins, and then burst into burbles of laughter. They love being scared, because it's so wonderful, the next moment, to know everything is all right. You have to be older to be scared of being scared.

Babies are wonderful. They are so honest and uninhibited and guileless and overjoyed with life. It is a shame that inevitably some adult has to come along a warn them that the "no parking" sign means you—YOU, THERE, THE STROLLER.

A group of New York mothers has sent me a carbon of a letter they just mailed to the White House:

"Mr. President, 'We have been thrilled by the moral courage displayed by Dr. Frances Oldham Kelsey in her stand against the use of the tranquilizer drug thalidomide in the United States. We are humbly grateful that she prevented the birth of hundreds, and perhaps thousands, of deformed children in this country, children whose arrival would have brought tragedy to so many homes for so many years.

"We are sure that we are not alone in our gratitude and we, therefore, suggest that Dr. Kelsey be awarded the highest honor this country can give—the Congressional Medal of Honor."

These women most certainly are "not alone." Every American mother surely would say "amen."

Says Estes Mentioned Man's Death

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government official swore today that Billie Sol Estes mentioned the death of Henry Marshall while voicing threats designed to halt a federal investigation of Estes' cotton dealings.

Wilson Tucker, deputy director of the Agriculture Department's cotton division, gave the testimony at a hearing before the Senate Investigations subcommittee in its probe of influence deals by Estes, a Texas financier who since has been declared bankrupt.

Marshall was a key employee of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. A coroner originally ruled he was a suicide despite five gunshot wounds in his body, but Texas state police have since said he was slain.

The subcommittee has heard conflicting testimony as to whether Marshall was trying to halt Estes' cotton deals at the time of his death.

Reading from a prepared statement, Tucker said Estes and John P. Dennison, his lawyer, visited Tucker's office last Oct. 18, and that Estes threatened to embarrass the Kennedy administration if an investigation of Estes' allegedly illegal deals in cotton acreage allotments were not halted.

"Mr. Estes stated that this pooled (cotton) allotment matter had caused the death of one person and then asked me if I knew Henry Marshall," Tucker said.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., asked whether Tucker regarded the statement as an "implied threat—that one man had already lost his life" because of the investigation.

"It did not at the time," Tucker replied. "It impressed me some but I didn't put any particular significance to it at the time."

Easy enough to make twin loaves should a party rounding out to a dozen participants be on the calendar.

¼ cup cold water
1 cup hot bouillon
½ cup real mayonnaise
¼ cup chopped sweet pickle
3 cups finely chopped cooked ham

Sauce:
½ cup real mayonnaise
½ cup dairy sour cream OR heavy cream, whipped
2 tablespoons mustard, with-horseradish Parsley

Soften gelatine in cold water. Add bouillon and stir until dissolved. Cool slightly and add ¼ cup real mayonnaise. Combine sweet pickle, chopped ham, pimiento, parsley and onion. Fold into mayonnaise mixture. Pack in 5 x 9-inch loaf pan which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens on chop plate. For sauce blend real mayonnaise and mustard-with-horseradish. Fold cream into mayonnaise mixture. Just before serving, spoon sauce mixture in a diagonal strip across loaf and garnish with parsley. Yield: 6 generous servings.

Filibuster Truce in the Senate

By GARDNER L. BRIDGE

WASHINGTON (AP)—A 10-day truce was effected Wednesday in the filibuster that has tied the Senate in knots since last Thursday.

The center of the dispute, President Kennedy's bill to create a private communications satellite corporation, was sidetracked until Aug. 10 to permit action on other legislative problems.

The filibuster may be resumed after the respite, but Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told reporters he looked for a more reasonable atmosphere when the bill comes up again.

Under a unanimous consent agreement reached shortly after the Senate convened at noon, the controversial measure was referred to the Foreign Relations Committee.

This opened the way for a resumption of regular committee sessions and other Senate business.

The committee was instructed to act on the bill by Aug. 10 and return it to the Senate. Mansfield said he hoped the committee would act even sooner. The committee announced plans to start hearings on Friday.

The arrangement had some face-saving aspects for both sides. It brings the bill formally before the Senate, a move which a small group of Democratic opponents had been blocking with talk.

It bowed to the contention of the filibustering group that the committee should look into international implications of the bill.

The measure would authorize a privately owned, government-regulated corporation to set up and operate this country's share of a projected network of communications relay stations in space.

Kennedy proposed that the corporation's stock be split 50-50 between the public and the established communications firms.

The bill was passed by the House and approved by the Senate committees, but several Democratic senators fought against bringing it up for final action on the ground it amounted to a giveaway of the fruits of government research. They demanded government ownership.

Since Mansfield first tried to call up the bill last Thursday, opponents had blocked the move with hours of speechmaking.

Among them were Sens. Wayne Morse and Maurice Neuberger of Oregon, Estes Kefauver and Albert Gore of Tennessee, Russell B. Long of Louisiana, Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Ralph Yarborough of Texas, and Quentin N. Burdick of North Dakota, all Democrats.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Republican leader, joined Mansfield in proposing the 10-day cooling off period. Some Republicans opposed the plan when it was first advanced. They expressed fear the Democrats would seize on this opportunity to try to ram through the administration's bitterly disputed farm bill.

Before agreeing to the compromise, Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., won from Mansfield a statement that there was no intention to call up the farm bill during the next 10 days.

Ready for a white glove inspection, your home has that cool, clean, fresh look everyone appreciates in warm weather. Slip covers, curtains and your best cotton print dress are fresh from a bath in detergent and dry chlorine bleach. A damp urethane sponge has banished smudges from plastic table tops and spots from carpets of man-made fibers. Vinyl floorcoverings and wallcoverings are spotless after a soap and water rub-down. Fresh flower arrangements are kept fresh by dissolving one aspirin tablet in each vase of water.

Your stage is set for mid-summer entertaining. Remember the season, keep the menu light. ## Kentucky Unit Is Going Home

FORT CHAFFEE, Ark. (AP)—

The first elements of Kentucky's 100th Division (training) began threading their way back to their home state Wednesday as Uncle Sam continues to relax his muscles after last October's Berlin buildup.

Two regiments and two battalions—totaling 1,100 men—were released as of midnight, July 31. The remainder of the division will be released Aug. 7, when 800 men head for Kentucky, and Aug. 11, when the last 1,100 men leave.

Division officials said probably 99 per cent of the men would return home by private vehicle. Most of the families of the men already are in Kentucky, officials said.

The first elements departed Fort Chaffee quietly. The fanfare will come Aug. 11 when the division commander, Maj. Gen. Dillman Rash visits the fort, reviews a parade and congratulates the last units.

Rash is in Kentucky attending mustering out ceremonies in the soldiers' home towns, but he will fly to Fort Chaffee for final ceremonies.

The regiments released Wednesday were the 397th and the 399th and two battalions of the 400th

Regiment. Next Tuesday the 398th Regiment, the 3rd battalion of the 400th Regiment, and the transportation and test companies of the 100th Division will be released.

The last units to leave will be the division headquarters, band, support company and receiving company.

Though the men were released from the fort Wednesday, they will remain on active duty until they are mustered out in their home towns.

Something New In Chocolate

Nine of these new chocolate wafers are a nutritionally complete meal of only 225 calories, and can be eaten with water, coffee, tea or other non-calorie beverage.

A chocolate parfait—tempting, rich and luscious—is a sophisticated descendant of a delicacy invented by the Aztecs of ancient Mexico. They called their foaming drink "chocolatl," and made it of ground and roasted cacao beans steamed with peppers and spices.

The Spaniards, who know a good thing when they tasted it, adopted "chocolatl" took it back to Spain, cut down on the peppers and spices and added sugar. This was the first step toward giving chocolate the taste and richness that make it so popular today.

The Spaniards guarded their recipe so jealously it did not reach England until 1657, when a Frenchman opened a "chocolate shop" in London, about a century after the recipe was developed. The British added milk to the Spanish formula in 1700 and chocolate was well on its way to justifying the scientific name given the cacao plant: "theobroma cacao," Greek meaning "food of the gods."

Chocolate is exceptionally nourishing and sustaining, but it is also rich and it has never been associated with the idea of reducing. A new development, however, makes it possible to use chocolate—the most popular of all flavors—as a means to help lose weight. Chocolate-flavored wafers, an addition to the Metreol line of products for weight control, give an ancient delicacy an entirely new use.

Nine of the Metreol chocolate wafers are a nutritionally complete 225-calorie meal. They can be eaten with water, coffee, tea or other non-calorie beverage for one, two, three or four meals daily. Thirty-six of the wafers provide a complete day's diet of 900 calories.

With chocolate for weight loss, it seems that the historically-favored flavor has added a new dimension.

much money on foolish things. She abhorred the cars bought on time payments. She scolded about money borrowed in order to build beautiful homes.

"Times have changed, Mother. Everyone buys on installments," they said.

"Not me!" she blurted in response.

Finally, a time came when the years of privation and work, too strenuous for the petite body she lived in, demanded medical attention. The guardian appointed by the 12 sat with Mrs. Tonino. He explained that she would have to enter a hospital.

"Have you an account with a bank?" he questioned.

"No, I have money here." She took a small tin can from under her pillow. It contained $700 in small bills.

In the hospital, Mrs. Tonino was a model patient. She did not complain. She did as she was told. Nurses liked her and, even at busiest times, found ways to serve her needs. Then one day the thin, tired grandmother wrinkled her face into the only smile she had been known to manage.

The nurse smiled back at her as she left the room.

The smile was still on Mrs. Tonino's face when the nurse returned a short time later. Mrs. Tonino's eyes were closed in her final sleep.

Later they examined Mrs. Tonino's estate. One of her sons, who had become a lawyer, checked the financial affairs of his mother. He wondered how much he would have to assess his brothers and sisters.

The final bill was added to the total indebtedness. He added, subtracted from the $700 Mrs. Tonino had had in the tin can.

The account balanced at zero. Mrs. Tonino had died the minute her money ran out. She left the world owing not even so much as a penny in cash. But many people owed her in kindness.

The End

Mrs. Tonino paid her bills. "Work is good," she said.

EVEN A PENNY

By RUTH C. LEMBKE

"How do you manage to raise 12 children all alone, Mrs. Tonino?" asked a sympathetic neighbor.

Mrs. Tonino pulled herself up to her full five feet. "Work!" she said emphatically. Every bone of her body was full of determination.

Thirteen years ago, her husband had brought her to America from Italy as a bride. He had managed to hold down an assortment of low-paying jobs as child after child had arrived.

Then, discouraged, he left his wife, children and all his debts. Perhaps he had gone back to Italy. Who knew? But Mrs. Tonino worked and paid her bills. Gnarled knuckles were this woman's receipts for them. Knotted veins stood out on her legs, on which she had stood long hours to wash and iron to earn money for food.

"You work too hard," the neighbor told her.

"Work is good," was Mrs. Tonino's reply.

She had no time to learn good English, to coddle the babies, to tell her problems to those who might listen. Her only change from the work and sleep routine was the weekly trip to church.

"Come, look!" she would call to the children at odd times. She held out a bill she had skimmed to clear. "See! It says 'paid.'"

Came the day when those 12 children were men and women. They had seemingly by osmosis absorbed some of the driving force of their mother. Each was a success of a sort and they scattered over the entire United States. At times old Mrs. Tonino received a letter with a check from one of her offspring. She saved the letter but immediately returned the check.

Mother just went on washing, scrubbing and cleaning. Her children and grandchildren came to visit. The grandmother reprimanded them for spending so

Taking A Vacation?

If you're going to be gone longer than three weeks, Virginia Van Nostrand, home service director for Whirlpool Corp., advises that you disconnect the refrigerator, remove all foods, and leave the doors open. This will save electricity, eliminate food spoilage, and prevent the buildup of musty odors. Refrigerators with freezer compartments can be left running, but perishable foods should be removed from the refrigerator section. Miss Van Nostrand also advises that washers, dryers, TV sets, range and humidifier can be left operating—but only if it has a run-off hose to drain; a water collection pan will overflow. And don't forget to stop the milk, the mail and the newspaper and make arrangements to get the grass cut.

August Is Month for Sandwiches

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Take heart, hurried housewives, August is sandwich month and using them as mealtime shortcuts is practically patriotic.

Many supermarkets over the country are featuring luncheon meats and ground beef at special prices this week.

Smoked hams and beef roasts are regional price attractions.

In the Northeast, chuck and round roasts and hams are widely featured. One national chain is selling boneless chuck roasts for 59 cents a pound in its New York outlets.

Chuck roasts are also featured in the Midwest.

Turkeys are reasonably priced. Baking hens are featured in the Southeast.

For noon sandwich meal, steaks are attractively priced this week-end. Northeastern markets are featured generally.

A wide variety of garden vegetables are available. Tomatoes, Boston and iceberg lettuce, cucumbers, collards and kale are attractions. Other vegetables include sweet potatoes, okra, artichokes, cauliflower and black-eyed peas.

Fruit bargains include oranges, apples, figs, grapes, early pears.

Glad He Took Matter Calmly

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A neighborhood news tipster phoned the editor of a suburban weekly Monday to tell him about an unoccupied truck rolling downhill and smashing into a home.

"Not interested," said editor Richard Byrd. "This kind of thing happens in the newspaper business all the time."

"Well, I'm glad you're taking it so calmly," the tipster said. "It was your house."

Drug Measure Called for by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called Wednesday for stronger legislation to permit immediate removal of dangerous drugs, such as the tranquilizer thalidomide, from the market.

The President told off a news conference with a statement pegged to thalidomide, which has been blamed for deformities in babies born to women who took the drug.

Kennedy said it is important, apricots, grapes, blueberries, limes, nectarines and, at the lowest price in years in some markets, watermelons.

Cereal Flecked Gems

Oatmeal Nut Muffins are really gems—as hot bread or dessert.

Oatmeal muffins are an old-fashioned treat, and the old-fashioned term "gems" is a fitting name. Try a light sprinkling of sugar over the tops as you take them from the oven, and make these muffins a dessert children will love. For grownups, serve a side portion of cream cheese and whole strawberry jam—offer iced tea or coffee. The only mixing secret—mix just until the dry ingredients seem moist—do not beat the batter smooth. Bake in a hot oven and serve hot. Oatmeal makes this type of hot bread richer in nutrients by adding its own whole grain protein, B vitamins, thiamine, riboflavin, niacin, and essential minerals.

Oatmeal Nut Muffins
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
¾ cup sugar
¾ cup chopped nuts
¾ cup milk
¾ cup milk
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup melted fat or cooking oil
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup rolled oats, quick or regular

Sift flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt into mixing bowl. Add rolled oats and nuts; mix well. Combine milk, egg, and fat or oil; pour into dry ingredients. Stir just until all particles are moistened. Spoon into greased muffin pans (2 1/4 x 1 1/4 inches). Bake in hot oven (425°F) until lightly browned, 15 to 18 minutes. Yield: 12 medium muffins.

Appeals to Russia to Reverse Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy appealed to Russia Wednesday to reverse its opposition to international inspection under a nuclear test ban treaty. He indicated the United States is ready to scale down its inspection requirements if Russia will negotiate.

Kennedy told a news conference the United States has found no justification for the Soviet claim that an effective test ban can be established without international inspection.

He recalled that Russia had once agreed to international inspection within its boundaries and he urged a return to that position. If Russia "would return to its earlier position," he said, the United States would be prepared to negotiate on the amount of inspection required for safeguarding a treaty.

The President announced that Ambassador Arthur Dean U.S. negotiator at the 17-nation disarmament conference in Geneva, will be going back there promptly and will be ready to negotiate.

that every woman check the medicine cabinet to make sure there is no thalidomide there. He spoke of "the terrible human tragedy" which has been visited on families in Germany because of use of the drug.

Kennedy praised the Food and Drug Administration and Dr. Frances O. Kelsey, its staff member who studied the drug, for forestalling its commercial distribution in this country.

He noted that congressional conferees have approved funds for a 25 per cent increase in FDA personnel, as recommended by his administration.

He said he hopes Congress will adopt provisions of the administration bill allowing immediate removal from the market of any drug believed dangerous.

What we need now are legislative safeguards to lessen the likelihood of such a tragedy again and close cooperation with other countries in this field, he said.

Foreign Aid Bill Signed Into a Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy signed the $4.72-billion foreign aid authorization bill Wednesday and said it permits this country to speak with a stronger voice in world affairs.

The bill gives the President the authority he sought to continue limited aid to some Communist countries, such as Poland and Yugoslavia. An effort was made in the Senate to ban all aid for Communist nations.

The measure also provides a four-year $2.4 billion Alliance for Progress program in Latin America.

The bill's authorization for aid during the fiscal year which began last July 1 totals $206.5 million less than the President had asked. He may face more trimming when the appropriations bill comes up. The authorization bill merely sets ceilings.

The authorization bill also carries no ban against loans or payments to the United Nations, a restriction the House had voted to insert in the measure. The Senate already has authorized a $100-million loan to the United Nations and elimination of any ban in this bill clears the way for House action later on a separate loan proposal.

"I first joined the guard to get two weeks at summer camp away from my wife!"

Bringing Up Children Just Naturally Provides Many Turning Points in Life

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—When you are bringing up children, your life has many turning points.

Such as when you take a young daughter to her first summer camp.

I fought back hard when the idea was raised to send Tracy Ann who is 9 away to camp for a full month.

"Why, I didn't sleep away from home until I was 12," I objected. "And then when I did go to a Boy Scout camp, it was for only two weeks."

"Yes, and you probably rode there in a horse and buggy," said my wife, Francis. "But they do things differently now. Most camps want the children for two months."

"But Tracy will die of homesickness. She'll be among complete strangers."

"No, she won't. Three friends from her school are already at the camp."

Well, Tracy herself pitched in and said there was no one left in the neighborhood to play with under 70, and please, please, please, couldn't she go to summer camp? So, against my own judgment, I caved in, and said yes.

On the morning I was to take Tracy to camp, she woke and yelped, "This is the day!"

She kissed Francis goodbye, kissed our cat, Lady Dottie, on her pink nose, and off we went.

On the train passengers turned and smiled at Tracy in her snappy camp uniform. She was very affectionate, and cuddled close to me as she dozed after reading me a comic book—the last she would see for a month, as they don't allow comic books in camp.

Awaking, she asked thoughtfully, "Will you miss me, Daddy?"

"Of course I'll miss you," I replied. "And Mommy will miss you too, and so will Lady Dottie."

The whole apartment will be flooded with our tears.

Tracy nodded her head cheerfully at this blissful picture of family sorrow she'd leave behind her.

"I'll miss you, too," she said gravely.

But when we reached the camp itself, she quickly dropped my hand she'd clung to—and left a lonesome feeling in my fingers.

She had caught sight of one of her friends, and the two romped happily away across the green acres, scaring butterflies as they ran.

I had lunch at the camp with Tracy and her three friends and

Revised Bill Finally Is Passed

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—After weeks of hearings, the Senate Finance Committee has approved a revised version of President Kennedy's tax revision bill. But Chairman Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said he would carry to the floor his fight against its key provision.

The Virginian said today he would try to knock out the investment credit provision, designed as an incentive to American business to modernize its machinery and equipment.

Byrd plans to use as one of his felt as out of place as a camel at a picnic of squirrels. Just before leaving I walked down to the lake with them. Tracy brushed away the hand I held out to help her down the steep path.

"Give me a kiss," I said. She squiggled up her freckled face impatiently, eager to be off. The next moment Tracy dashed away, laughing with her gal pals, and she never glanced back or turned to wave farewell.

I stood there, feeling like a middle-aged orphan.

I knew that what I had brought to that summer camp I would never quite get back altogether in all the seasons I have yet to know.

main arguments the contention that the bill as it cleared the committee will cost the Treasury an estimated $750 million a year.

As it passed the House, the bill was figured to provide a $120 million surplus.

Byrd passed his vote as the committee approved the bill 9-2 Tuesday after struggling with it through hearings and executive sessions since April 2.

Administration Senate leaders have said they may hold up the tax measure until the President decides whether to seek a cut in personal income tax rates this session.

Byrd succeeded during his committee's consideration of the bill in knocking out the biggest revenue-producing provision in it—a tax withholding plan on dividends and interest.

The Treasury had estimated this would pick up at least $650 million in taxes.

The administration's chances of restoring this on the floor appeared slim.

The committee also softened the President's proposals to tighten up on the expense account deductions and to increase levies sharply on foreign incomes of U.S. corporations. Kennedy's backers believe they have a chance to win stiffer provisions in a floor fight.

Fireflies on the island of Jamaica in the West Indies produce such a brilliant burst of light that it resembles a flash bulb on a camera.

Market Flooded With Cook Books But None Give Dope on Food for an Eskimo

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Suppose you were having a distinguished Eskimo to dinner, and you found out his favorite dishes were walrus stew and boiled owl.

Would you know how to go about cooking a walrus or boiling an owl?

Or suppose this very important Eskimo hinted that he doted most on bear feet or soured seal liver. Would you know how to prepare these tempting Far Northern delicacies?

The four most popular literary topics today seemingly are dieting, the hydrogen bomb, the Civil War, and cook books of all kinds. Perhaps the perfect title for a best-seller today would be "How to Lose Weight While Cooking the Civil War over a Hydrogen Bomb."

But while the market has been flooded with cook books, the fine old culinary skills found in Arctic Circle igloos have been overlooked completely.

This lack has been remedied by the publication of a small paperbacked cook book of age-old Eskimo recipes. The students of Shishmaref Day School in Shishmaref, Alaska, got the recipes from their mothers.

Eskimo cookery is simplicity itself, and any harried American housewife wanting to fix a quick easy meal for her family might find this recipe for frozen flounders just the answer for her problem.

"After the flounders are caught, let them freeze. Eat as much as you want of it."

That dish has another advantage for budget-minded wives—it cuts down on the gas bill.

Now about that walrus stew: "Cut the walrus in small pieces and also cut up the skin and blubber. Then put them together in the pot to boil. Add salt and water."

As for that boiled owl:

"Take feathers off from owl. Throw away feathers. Clean owl and put in cooking pot. Have lots of water in pot. Add salt to taste. Most of the people like the

Luscious 'Pork Chops a la Nectarine'

Make a summer meal something the entire family will look forward to by serving "Pork Chops a la Nectarine." Meat and fresh nectarine slices, green pepper, apple cider and spices accent the flavor of pork chops delightfully.

Enjoy fresh nectarines from California often before the season ends in early September. Their rich-looking red-and-gold skins are so smooth that there's no need to peel them. And beneath this fuzzless exterior, the golden-yellow fruit itself is a fragrant invitation to good eating.

Whether eaten out-of-hand or in salads, fruit cups or desserts, plump orchard-fresh nectarines are surefire warm-weather refreshers.

Pork Chops a la Nectarine
6 large loin pork chops
1 cup apple cider
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
Dash nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
6 whole cloves
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 cups sliced fresh nectarines
1/2 cup sliced green pepper

Trim excess fat from pork chops and rub large skillet with it. Brown chops; drain off excess fat. Combine 1/2 cup cider, lemon rind and juice, cinnamon, nutmeg, salt, pepper and cloves. Pour over chops; cover and simmer 45 minutes. Combine cornstarch and remaining 1/2 cup cider; stir into pan juices; cook and stir until thickened and clear. Add nectarines and green pepper. Cover and simmer 5 minutes, just until thoroughly heated. Makes 6 servings.

Some Facts of Life in Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

The series of bank robberies in Arkansas recently has brought to light a tale of the robbery of the Wheatley bank 30 years ago.

A couple of Wheatley citizens were holding their morning coffee cup conversation back in 1932 when someone yelled that the Wheatley bank had been robbed.

They naturally rushed to the bank and one of the men found a piece of an old shirt hanging out of the bank's stove. It had apparently been thrown in the stove to burn.

The shirt later led to apprehension of the robber and no one tried robbing the bank again for 30 years.

An enterprising person has leafed through the Batesville telephone book and found some famous personages.

There is a Jesse James, a John Glenn and even a King George. The searcher says there are several Taylors, but no Elizabeths.

The exotic lotus blossom has been brought to Arkansas—on the estate of Mrs. Fletcher McElhannon near Arkadelphia—and appears to be thriving.

Mrs. McElhannon imported a few blossoms 10 years ago and has cultivated them in a pond since that time. She now has hundreds of stately stalks with flowers reaching three to six feet high from the pond.

John Scott Collins of El Dorado is getting off to an early start in forestry.

John, at the age of six, was one of 40 landowners certified by the American Tree Farm System at the summer meeting of the state's Tree Farm Committee at Conway recently.

He is the owner of a 50-acre tract of land, purchased for him by his parents as an investment for future schooling.

John is, of course, a little young to do much of the work on the tree farm, but he is learning what that type of farming is all about and will do more as he grows older.

on the moon Tuesday during an annular eclipse when a thin ring of sunlight rimmed the moon passing between the earth and sun.

Their purpose: To determine just how round the moon really is, as the sunlight formed a bright, near-perfect circle. Learning the precise shape would give additional details about effects of lunar gravity, helpful in planning moon landings, and in computing how long a man-made satellite could orbit the moon, explained Dr. Laurence Stoddard of the Lockheed California Company, Burbank, Calif.

He headed a scientific team which set up equipment in Senegal in West Africa to observe the annular eclipse.

Lost Meteorite
Four U.S. scientists are off on a search for a lost meteorite which Indians in North Central Argentina spotted in the late 1700's and referred to as a "mountain of pure iron."

Later, the "mountain" was shown to be meteorite about the size of a dinner table and weighing an estimated 13 1/2 tons, which would make it the seventh heaviest meteorite ever recorded. But in the intervening years it apparently has become buried, and its location is uncertain.

Dr. William A. Cassidy of Columbia University, and his associates, will join an Argentine scientist in a new search, using mine detectors and a magnetometer.

Discontent Over Cuban Situation

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

People who travel in and out of Cuba report that widespread discontent with the economic chaos has cost Fidel Castro the support of anywhere up to 80 per cent of the Cuban people.

These same sources say Castro could win many of these people back to his side—that is, to Fidel as apart from the idea of communism—if he could succeed within a reasonable time in feeding them adequately.

Even if he does not succeed, the informants say, the Red leadership will become more and more entrenched as time goes by. The reason is the regime's army is well-fed, well-armed and heavily disciplined. The Communist bloc has seen to it that the armed forces, the guarantee of power in any dictatorship, do not want for weapons.

Here is the picture the sources present:

There is no actual starvation in Cuba. There is hunger. At one time or another, almost everybody outside the privileged ones in the government, the ruling bureaucracy and the armed forces, feels pangs of emptiness in his belly. The shortages are not yet disastrous, but they are extremely aggravating.

Under the Communist-imposed bureaucracy—and this has long been the story of communism elsewhere—food production has become a monumental problem. Many who should be in production are swaggering about with guns, carrying out the duties of an armed militia to protect the regime.

The regime set up 572 offices throughout the country, employing thousands to take down reams of data on the laboring population and provide workers with labor cards. Without the cards, no ordinary Cuban will be allowed to work. This sort of thing is important to Red dictatorships which want to keep a minute check on all elements, but such projects make little economic sense.

On farms, the food production problem grows worse all the time until the ultimate in ridiculousness bear feet better than the meat," the cook book observes. "We cook them well, add salt. Four feet would take about one teaspoon of salt. Take them out of the pot and let them get cool. Eat them with seal oil."

To appreciate the taste thrill of soured seal liver requires a palate truly educated to the nuances of Eskimo cooking.

The student who submitted this recipe said:

"Soured seal liver is made in the summertime. Place liver in enamel pot or dish and cover with blubber. Put in a warm place for a few days until sour. Most of the boys and girls don't like it, except the grown-ups and old people. I don't like it either."

The best way to top off a native meal, naturally, is with Eskimo ice cream, made as follows:

"Grate reindeer tallow into small pieces. Add seal oil slowly while beating with hand. While whipping, continue adding seal oil and water until white and fluffy. Any berries can be added to it."

The cook book was prepared by the students to raise funds for handicapped children. You can get a copy by sending 60 cents to the Alaska Crippled Children's Association at Anchorage, Alaska.

Science Still Stymied by Sharks

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scientists admit being stymied by sharks, but are searching for a big lost meteorite, and a new measurement of the moon.

Shark Supreme
Sharks still are defying scientific efforts to find sure protection for humans from their man-sized bites.

Chemical and mechanical repellents, and the so-called bubble curtain method all have proved disappointing in use, or in tests, says Perry W. Gilbert, chairman of the shark research panel of the American Institute of Biological Sciences.

Sharks have excellent senses of smell and vision, and a "vibration sense" to locate their prey, he writes in Scientific American. Any solution to shark protection problems must work before an attack, for when one shark takes a bite of prey, the whole pack closes in, in a feeding frenzy, Gilbert says.

Roundness of the Moon
Astronomers drew special heads comes about. Farm areas are appealing to the cities to send them food.

Before the revolution, the island had more oranges than it knew what to do with. Vendors in every town sold oranges on every other street corner, three or four for a nickel. There was a surplus for export. A Cuban now must have a medical certificate or a permit from some bureaucracy before he can buy an orange.

In addition, there are indications the Russians are becoming ever more annoyed with their friend in Havana. There's nothing they can do about him, however. He is the only factor holding the whole thing together in Cuba. They are aware how many civilians and soldiers alike—are wont to insist: "I'm a Fidelista, but not a Communista."

Steady Toothsome—Grapefruit and Watermelon

Lower summer temperatures with a cooling, mouthwatering dessert of watermelon wedges served a la mode with Florida grapefruit sections. Colorful and oh, so refreshing is this combination of juicy pink watermelon topped with the tart-sweetness of freshly canned grapefruit sections.

There's happy food news in the fact that you can enjoy the healthful goodness of Florida quality grapefruit all year 'round, thanks to modern quick canning methods that preserve the flavor and abundant vitamin C of this valuable citrus fruit.

One may wonder at times if botanists are rather straightforward souls or if their senses of humor occasionally enter into their work. The watermelon, now so widely cultivated, was originally native to tropical Africa; its proper botanical name is Citrullus vulgaris, but its luscious color and juicy texture are anything but vulgar! The grapefruit, so named because of the cluster form in which the fruit grows on the tree, is quite properly termed Citrus maxima. For the best in citrus fruit, serve Florida grapefruit sections—with watermelon or other fresh fruits in season.

To serve watermelon and grapefruit attractively, slice a chilled quartered watermelon into thick pie-shaped wedges. Top with frosty grapefruit sections and decorate with a sprig of mint.

Doctor Was Alerted to Tranquilizer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Frances O. Kelsey of the Food and Drug Administration testified today she was alerted by chance to the potential danger of a German tranquilizer blamed for deformities in thousands of babies.

She put up the roadblock that prevented wide commercial distribution in this country.

Dr. Kelsey's testimony before a Senate subcommittee, along with that of FDA Commissioner George P. Larrick, brought suggestions from senators for establishment of machinery for better international exchange of drug information.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., chairman of the Government Operations subcommittee, said "surface evidence indicates a lag in, if not a total lack of, communication" about the side effects of the German drug thalidomide.

The tranquilizer has been blamed for the birth of several thousand malformed babies in West Germany and other countries after being taken by pregnant women.

However, Larrick testified that the FDA has not found "any deformed infants associated with the testing programs sponsored by U.S. firms."

The drug was not released by the FDA for commercial distribution in this country, but Larrick said it was supplied by four subsidiaries of Richardson, Merrell, Inc., New York, to experts for use in studying its safety for man.

The number of such doctors has been reported as about 1,200.

Present law, Larrick noted, permits a manufacturer to supply doctors with new drugs for use in such investigations.

Dr. Kelsey, a gray-haired medical officer for the FDA, testified that the American firm applied to the FDA for approval of the drug in September 1960, and that she was assigned to study the application.

She said that after looking over the application, she felt more information was required about whether it would be safe and asked the company to submit further data.

While this material was being assembled, Dr. Kelsey said, she "chanced" to read a letter to the editor of a British medical journal that indicated the German drug was associated with peripheral neuritis.

That led her to further inquiry. Much of her testimony had been outlined by Humphrey.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said today a "tragic, avoidable gap" in international exchange of information let the drug thalidomide get into the hands of 1,200 U.S. physicians.

Humphrey, in private life a pharmacist, said in a statement prepared for the opening of hearings by a Government Operations subcommittee, that sheer luck played a part in preventing the drug from causing widespread deformities among babies in this country.

It was only by chance, he said, that Dr. Frances Kelsey of the Food and Drug Administration found information on the effects of the drug in a letter to the editor of one of the world's 4,000 medical journals.

Dr. Kelsey was called as a witness in the hearings, which Humphrey said are directed at coordinating the exchange of drug information among U.S. agencies and between American and foreign agencies.

Humphrey said his subcommittee would not go over the ground already covered by Sen. Estes Kefauver's Antimonopoly subcommittee in its study of pharmaceutical legislation. Chairman Kefauver, D-Tenn., who announced Tuesday that his committee would be asked to approve an amendment to pending legislation to require adequate tests on animals before new drugs are marketed.

Kefauver said in a statement that thalidomide, blamed for causing birth deformities when given to pregnant women as a tranquilizer, had been tested only on mice and rats before it was distributed. He said that after it was put on the market, tests on rabbits showed deformities similar to those in humans.

"The drug has reportedly been used in 13 countries," Humphrey said. "Dr. Helen Taussig, an outstanding authority, has stated, based on her on-the-scene study in West Germany, that the drug (thalidomide) — called 'contergan' there—was manufactured by the ton. By 1960, it became Germany's most popular sleeping tablet and tranquilizer."

He said the committee is interested in the chain of events from the time a new drug application for it was received in the United States, Sept. 12, 1960, until it was withdrawn last March 8.

"During this time, supplies of the drug were apparently distributed — for experimental purposes only — to over 1,200 American physicians," he said. "It would appear that the case history of this drug is marked by tragic, avoidable gaps and delays in international communication."

"It would appear that, despite a strong drug regulatory system in the United States, there are serious weaknesses in information and communication on new, experimental drugs," Humphrey said.

Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., said in a statement he is joining Kefauver in sponsoring the drug bill amendment.

"At the present time, human beings—including pregnant women—are being used as guinea pigs," Senator Clark said. "We about the idea of cutting taxes. I think that guinea pigs should be used as guinea pigs first."

Relax Tax Topic of Economy

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Relax the tax?

For weeks Washington has been chewing on a bundle of questions about the idea of cutting taxes. Even if Kennedy should recommend a cut, would Congress go along? At this moment Congress ment. Who should get it—lower income people or those in the higher brackets? Disagreement on that, too.

Will President Kennedy recommend it? He has indicated he might decide about the middle of this month whether to ask an immediate cut or ask one later which would be effective next Jan. 1.

He said he'd have to wait on making up his mind until the economic indicators for July are in.

Even if Kennedy should recommend a cut, would Congress go along? At this moment Congress doesn't know.

One thing is sure: If Kennedy does propose a cut, two very conservative southern Democrats—Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia and Rep. Wilbur Mills of Arkansas—will be key figures in any congressional decision.

Earlier this year Kennedy asked Congress to approve a tax revision (not a tax cut) bill he offered. His idea was that it would increase the government's revenue.

The full House passed it in March in a form that would give the Treasury a gain of $120 million in revenue. But, before it could get up to the full Senate for a vote, it had to go through Byrd's Finance Committee.

It came out of there Tuesday on its way to the full Senate, but in a form that would cost the government $750 million a year in revenue. So that's up in the air.

Meanwhile Mills' House Ways and Means Committee began hearing, behind closed doors, witnesses testify on what they think of the state of the economy.

These witnesses are from business and labor and some are economists. What they think—or, rather, what Mills' committee thinks of what they say—will be a factor in deciding on a tax cut, if Kennedy suggests it.

Kennedy reportedly has been much concerned with what the reaction of Byrd and Mills might be if he asks for a cut now, since they, because of their jobs as chairmen, are two of the most powerful men in Congress on this question.

And there are some other factors to consider: Would a cut now make the people jittery that the economy must be in rocky shape to require this kind of remedy? And, this is an important one, suppose Congress cut taxes this year and the economy got worse next year. What remedy would Congress have then?
